

Facade GEFIEDER

2000
Design/Object

The newly developed facade, preventing heat loss in winter and overheating in the summer, consists of an inner manually openable facade layer and an external mechanically-powered glass skin. In between the two lies the intermediate sun and glare protection. Depending on weather, season and time of day each facade element will automatically adjust itself.

Facade GEFIEDER

2000
Design/Object

Technical details:

Typology: Design/Object