

Office Table

1994
Design/Object

This table is suitable as a drawing area computer workstation for 2 to 6 people. Holes of different size follow the longitudinal axis of the 2.80 m / 1.60 m wide surface. The three large circular cut-outs are used to feed through Computer / telephone / desk lamps cables.

To stiffen the structure and as a lower bracket (shelf space for cables, computers, etc.) another brace creates structural stability in combination with the existing frame.

The legs are height adjustable to compensate for any ground level differences.
